Forecast for Sunday 23 Aug 2020

Weather: Overnight will be largely dry and cloudy, with the odd shower still possible. Still on the windy side. Into Sunday morning, it will stay rather cloudy with further showers. The showers will merge to give some longer spells of showery rain, locally heavy and possibly thundery, during the afternoon and these may continue into the evening. Meanwhile, eastern areas should favour best in regards to any brighter or sunnier spells during the day. Windy, but less so than previous days.

Chance of cloud free mountain/hill tops above 600m: 10% chance during the morning, with cloud bases down to 300-400m in showers. Lifting to above the summits during the afternoon, but frequently lowering to 400-500m in heavy showers or longer spells of rain.

Visibility: Generally good, but poor in heavy showers or longer spells of rain.

Meteorologist's View

Feeling colder than temperatures suggest, especially so for August, with frequent showers combining with windier conditions across the summits to give a risk of wind chill.
